DROWNED AT DOVER

Nine-Year-Old Alfred Laskey Breaks Through Ice of the Cocheco.

Dover, Jan. 1.—The first drowning accident of the winter was recorded today when Alfred Laskey, 9 years old, son of Mrs. Mary Laskey of 25 Belknap street, met death in the Cocheco river in the vicinity of the bridge of the western division of the Boston and Maine railroad.

With boy companions young Las-key had skated up the river as far as the bridge, under which the ice was very thin. He said to his companions
"Boys, let's go by this," and leading them he started father up the river, with the result that he skated into a vein of thin ice and went through.

His body was recovered near the place of accident about three hours later by fire Engineer Michael McGuinness and Joseph O'Neal. It was taken to the undertaking rooms of John H. Grimes and Son where it was prepared for burial.

Besides a mother the boy is survived by three brothers, Edwin, Charles, and Joseph Laskey, and four sisters, Eva, Marie, Gertrude, and Mildred Laskey all of this city. The funeral will probably take place Friday morning from St. Mary's church.

WOULD LIKE TO FOOT IT

President Elect Would Walk Between White House and Capitol
Inauguration Day

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 1.—Governor
Woodrow Wilson intimated tonight that if it were a possible thing he would like to go afoot between the White House and the Capitol when he takes his oath of office as President of the United States on March 4th.

He realizes, however, that the crowds would make it impossible, and that he probably would have to ride in a parade, as have all recent Presidents.

Jeffersonian simplicity, the kind that the President elect would like to emulate, however, he remarked, consisted not of a horse back ride as some historians have chronicled it,
but was merely an unostentatious walk down Pennsylvania avenue in the company of a few citizens.

"The story that Jefferson rode on horseback to the capital and hitched his horse to a post while he went to take the oath of office isn't true," said the governor. He was told that governor Sulzer had walked to the capitol at Albany and had abolished
the parade. Mr. Wilson spoke approvingly of this. He was asked if he had made any plans for his own inauguration in this connection.

"I hadn't thought out the method at all he said. "I have simply satisfied myself with impressing the gentlemen
at Washington on the inaugural committee with my desire to have the inauguration as simple as possible. I think say that the great crowds in the streets on that day would make walking to the White House and capitol difficult."

THE DEAL CARRIED OUT

Democrats and Progressives Elect Britton as Speaker of N. H. House.

(Special to The Herald.)

Concord, Jan. 2.—At the assembling of the legislature this morning William J. Britton of Wolfeboro, the progressive candidate for speaker, was elected through the coalition of the democrats and progressive members. Previous to taking the ballot, Cutter of Landaff, who was nominated for speaker by the democrats at their caucus held on Tuesday evening, withdrew from the contest.

The result of the ballot was as follows: Britton, progressive, 217; Perkins, republican, 182; Cutter, democrat,
1; Ahearn, democrat, 1.

NATIONAL OWNERSHIP

Of Railroads Advocated by Governor Foss in Inaugural Address.

(Special to The Herald.)

Boston, Jan. 2.—The Massachusetts legislature commenced today and organized. Governor Foss devoted much of his inaugural address to the railroad question. He advocated national ownership of railroads, also popular utility commission of Massachusetts with increased power; also advocated tunnel connection between Boston & Maine and New Haven railroads, and suggested that the New Haven be given complete control of the Boston & Maine, and the Boston Holding company should be abolished. He said Massachusetts should not aspire to continue to run railroads beyond her borders, but exercise fully her real power to regulate them.

He also suggested that the governor should have power of appointing a majority of the directors of companies which own, operate and control railroads in the state.

He favored the election of United States senators by the people and also suggested that delay in election of present United States senators that the people may vote direct.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Mercedes Aerie, F. O. E., New Officers Take Charge.

The installation of the newly elected officers of Mercedes Aerie, No. 682, Fraternal Order of Eagles, took place
on Wednesday evening, the officers being installed by Past worthy President George O. Lane, assisted by Andrew J. Barrett as conductor. The officers are as follows: President, Ezra Oster Pinkham; vice president, Daniel
J. Murphy; chaplain, A. Frost; secretary, Jeremiah Horn; treasurer, Fred
B. Obrey; inner guard, John Shaughnessy;
outer guard, Hugh McCann;
trustees, Alfred J. McCourt, Timothy Conners, George W. Snow.

A social session and refreshments followed.

NEW YEAR'S PARTY

Master Edwin and Miss Eloise
Zamarchi, children of Mr. and Mrs.
Dan Zamarchi of Denney street, entertained a number of their little friends at the family home, this afternoon from three to five o'clock in the form of a New Year's party.
Games so dear to the hearts of the young were indulged in, and the little lots made merry for two hours. The little host and hostess received many choice gifts in remembrance of the happy occasion. Light refreshments of ice cream, cake, fruit, and candy,
were served from a handsomely decorated table with candles and cut flowers. Those present were: Doris Smalton, Charlie Merrill, Gerald Merrill, Thomas Phelan, Laura Marshall, Florence Marshall, Lucy Merrill,
Daisy Furbish, Leona Sheehan.

PLAYED LIKE A VETERAN

The audience at the Portsmouth Theatre were pleased with a musical treat on Wednesday evening when Master Cohen appeared in violin work. The boy only seven years of age played like a veteran and must-have won the admiration of a large audience of the juvenile violinists.

TURKS YIELD TO THE ALLIES

Agree to Surrender Nearly all their Territory in Europe—Peace Now
Looked for Soon

London, Jan. 1.—After protracted diplomatic skirmishing, the Turks finally capitulated to a majority of the demands of the Balkan allies at today's session of the peace conference in St.
James Palace.

Through Rechad Pasha, they agreed to cede practically the whole of the Ottoman empire's European dominions, except Adrianople and the territory between it and Constantinople, to their victorious but traditionally despised neighbor.

The terms the Turkish delegates presented to the conference as counterproposal to the demands of the allies,
were:

First, the rectification of the Turko-Bulgarian frontier by making the boundary west of the line now occupied by the troops of the allies in the vicinity of Adrianople.

Second, the question of the status of Adrianople to be settled by Turkey and Bulgaria direct.

Third, the cession of the remainder of European Turkey, including Thracia
and Scutari, to the allies.

Fourth, the Albanian and Cretan difference to be solved by the powers.

Fifth, the Aegean islands to remain Turkish.

The announcement of these terms
was wrung from the Ottoman delegates with the greatest difficulty. They came only after Rechad Pasha had refuted Turkey's desire to shift the responsibility for adjudicating all the vital questions to the great powers,
and the representatives of the allies
had registered the unchangeable objections to such a course and plainly had given the Turks to understand that the failure of the Ottoman delegates to embark upon serious negotiations would mean a resumption of hostilities
in southeastern Europe.

The sitting of today was the most momentous and exciting since the beginning of the conference. The Greek premier, M. Venizelos, presided, and immediately after the opening of the conference he invited Rechad Pasha to present the Turkish counter proposals to the demands of the allies as the Turks last Monday had agreed to do.

Rechad said his interpretation of the bally transmitted telegrams of the early week had been correct, his government proposing to them to submit all the questions at issue, except Adrianople, to settlement by the powers.
This caused an outburst of indignation which M. Venizelos was hardly able to put down.

When relative calm was restored M.
Venizelos, Dr. S. Danell, the leader of the Bulgarian delegation, M. Boralov-itch, Servian, and M. Mlynskevitch, Montenegrin, each for their respective countries, declared that they would not accept the proposed mediation by the powers and insisted that the Turkish delegates present a practical and defined proposal and on it they would be ready to negotiate.

Rechad then announced that his instructions contained another alternative and requested a few minutes' time to formulate it. After a short recess, Rechad said that Turkey, desiring to give tangible proof of her love for peace and in deference to allies re-

WILL CONTEST FATHER'S WILL

Children of Late Judge Samuel W. Emery Are Left
One Dollar Each.

Samuel W. Emery Jr., is in Boston today to make application to have the will of his late father, Samuel W. Emery, lawyer, transferred to the jurisdiction of Buckingham County for probate. Mr. Emery's will was made in 1907, and left to the children
by his first wife the sum of $100 each, the balance of the estate to the present widow, in case of her death before his, the estate was to go to her two sisters.

Mr. Emery will allege in his bill that his father was a resident of Portsmouth, New Hampshire and was not a resident of Massachusetts.

This is the beginning of a contest to break the will on the ground of undue influence on the part of the present widow.

PRESIDENT TAFT HELD NEW YEAR'S RECEPTION

Washington, Jan. 1.—President Taft's fourth and last New Year's reception at the White House was greeted by a day beautiful and bright. Thousands early in the morning, before the time at which the chief executive was ready to shake hands with every citizen who cared to avail himself of the privilege, a line of men, women and children extended from the front door of the White House to the distant gate and far beyond, towards the state, war and navy buildings. The president and Mrs. Taft prepared at 11 o'clock to wish a happy New Year first to members of the cabinet and their wives and to the diplomatic corps; these followed by the members of the supreme court and by the judges of the other courts here; then former cabinet officers, ambassadors and ministers; next members of congress, then the army and navy and marine corps officers, after which came a long line of government officials, members of organizations, members of the grand army of the republic and a number of other military societies.

After all these had been greeted the doors stood open to the humblest citizen in the land, and he too was assured of a hearty handshake and a smile.

One picturesque touch, absent from the New Year's reception of color, for the first time in ten years was missing, because Baron Hengelmüller, ambassador from Austria-Hungary, dean of the diplomatic corps, was not in the city. His royal highness came time of rich purple and red always attracted much attention. Several other diplomats were unable to be present because of sickness, the Chilean and Colombian ministers being among the number. The diplomatic line was led by Ambassador Jagger and of France.

For the ambassador, Visconti di Cidra of Japan, it was his first appearance at a New Year's reception at the White House, while a number of the ministers had never attended one before, these including the representatives from the Dominican republic, Peru, Sweden, Spain, Honduras, Denmark and Panama.

The army and navy contingent made a brilliant spectacle. Every officer of the two services, as well as of the marine branch, now in Washington, was under orders to report at the war and navy departments. The former gathered in the offices of Major-General Wood, chief of staff, and headed by that officer and Lieutenant Miles (retired) in double file, moved slowly through the corridors and down the grand staircase on the eastern approach and across the executive avenue to the White House. Many officers of high rank held places in the line, including Major-General Wedderburn, Major-General Alchier, Brigadier General Andrews, adjutant general of the army, Brig. Gen. Wall, chief of the coast artillery, Brig. Gen. Conzler, president of the war college, Brig. Gen. Milla, chief of the militia division, Brig. Gen. Bixby, chief of engineers, Brig. Gen. Turner, surgeon-general, Brig. Gen. Shumpe, Brig. Gen. Smith, Brig. Gen. Allen, chief signal officer, Brig. Gen. McIntyre, and the whole of the staff of Gen. Wood. Besides General Miles were many other distinguished retired officers, such as Lieut. Gen. Bates, Gen. H. M. Young, Brig. Gen. Jones C. Wilson and many others.

While the army officers were being presented, the officers of the navy were preparing to fall in at Secretary Meyer's offices, under the leadership of Rear Admiral Vreeland, aide for operations, and Rear Admiral Bunker the new commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, Rear Admiral Andrews, chief of the bureau of navigation, Rear Admiral Twining, chief of the bureau of ordnance, Rear Admiral Wall, chief constructor, Rear Admiral McIntire, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, Rear Admiral Wilkes, director of navy yards, Rear Admiral T. J. Cowley, paymaster-general, and Rear Admiral Charles F. Stokes, surgeon general of the navy, formed the head of the line, and intermingled with them were many officers and retired officers of high rank, resident in Washington, such as Rear Admiral Wetherill, Rear Admiral Barker and Rear Admiral Peary.

Secretary of State and Mrs. Knox prepared to receive the diplomatic immediately they left the White House at a breakfast in their honor, given in the Pan-American Union building. To meet them there were invited also the members of the senate foreign relations and house foreign affairs committees. Not only at the White House and the Pan-American Union building through all official Washington was the order of the day. Officers and their wives prepared to dispense their hospitality to all who might come, and automobiles new about beating army and navy officers from the home of one to another to whom they wished to pay their respects. Secretary and Mrs. Knox alone received none but the members of the diplomatic corps, all other cabinet officers keeping open house.

greatest masterpiece of Ottoman architecture, the Muralid, which was built by Murad I, the mosque of Murad IV and the Bayrak mosque, which are the main centers in Adrianople for Mohammedan worship.

But the Turks refuse to give up Adrianople. This probably explains today's sudden yielding to the allies on other points. Turkey seemingly hopes by ceding almost all her territory to be allowed to retain the only point in which she insists. It is thought likely she also may be ready to make her blunder for the sake of seeing the green banner of the Prophet still waving over the "jewel of the orient," as Adrianople is called.

REFUSE TO PARDON BOY BROKER

Boston, Jan. 1.—The Executive Council of 1913 expires tomorrow. One of its important final acts at its session today was to vote unanimously that a pardon be not granted to Robert E. Davis, the so-called "boy broker," at the present time. In other words, a pardon is refused. This action was taken after the council had heard read the joint report of the physicians appointed two weeks ago to look into Davis' physical condition. Three doctors were selected for this work, two (Dr. Neff and Lockett) designated by the Governor at the request of the Council, and one (Dr. Richardson) designated by Attorney McIntyre, who appeared at the public hearing on the Davis pardon petition in behalf of Dr. Richardson. Dr. Neff, one of Davis' physicians and opposed pardon.

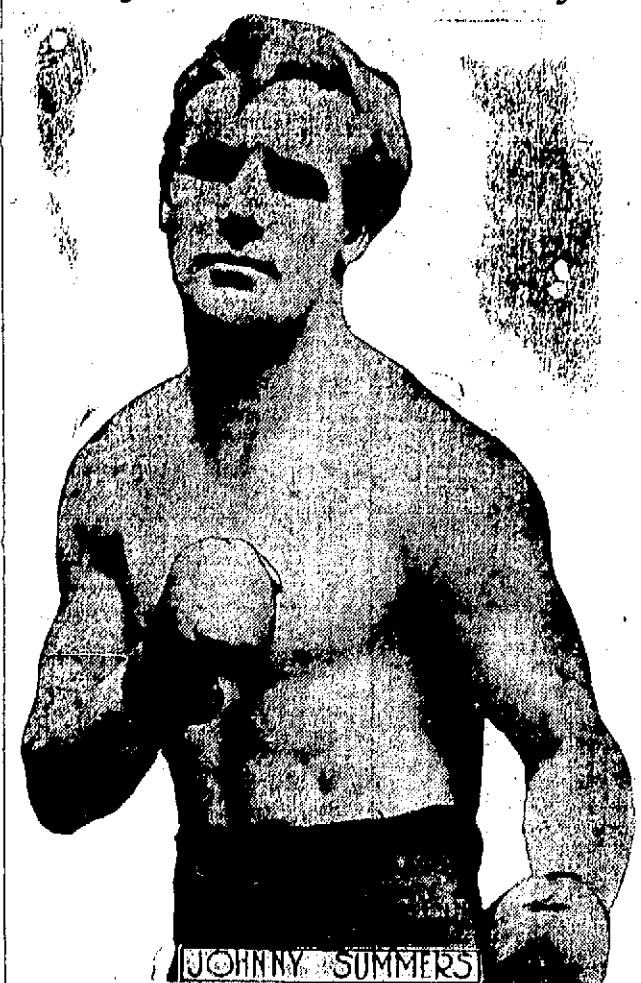

"While his condition of lowered vitality renders him more susceptible to disease," says the doctors jointly, "our findings do not show a state of health at present threatening life."

English Welterweight Champion Will Pay Visit to America Shortly

JOHNNY SUMMERS

New York, Jan. 2. Johnny Summers, the holder of the English welterweight championship, will pay a visit to this country shortly. Johnny was here once, two years ago and met with considerable success. At that time he was a lightweight. Since becoming a welter, he has done some great fighting and is considered by English experts to be one of the best men that ever held the title. Johnny will try hard to get on a match with Mike Gibbons.

NEW YEAR'S GREETING

Secretary Alfred G. Booth has sent the following New Year's Greeting to his friends here, on the eve of his departure for Boston, where he will have his headquarters in the future:

A New Year's Greeting
When the Master of Men would have the children know the place they had in the life he used these words: "I have called you friends." What a wealth of meaning there is in the word friend! Perhaps the highest privilege given to man is this gift of friendship. For it is through the gateway of friendship we can lead from despair to hope; through the gateway of friendship we can change sorrow into joy; through the gateway of friendship we can guide a soul to God. Therefore my New Year wish for you is that you may be a strong hand in the dark to another in the time of need—a cup of strength to a human soul in a crisis of weakness—thereby saving his faith in man and making him believe in the existence of love—to do this is to save his faith in God. Herein you will find the glory of life.

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE.

Repertory for the Week Beginning
January 6, 1913.

The principal happening of the week at the Boston Opera House will be the first performance for this season of "Pelléas et Mélisande," which is set down for Wednesday evening, Jan. 8. This strangely fascinating work by Claude Debussy, the most modern of modernists in operatic composition, created a profound impression last year, not alone through its musical and dramatic values, but also because of the rarely beautiful series of pictures which formed the background for the poetry of the narrative.

The production, designed as it was in the first place by Mr. Urban, with no change and the cast will be largely the original one, with a single notable exception—Mme. Louisa Elvira will be the Mélisande. The absolute perfection which characterized her portrayal of Lantise, gives assurance that her Mélisande will be an impersonation of surpassing interest and her appearance in the part is eagerly awaited. Jean Ridaux will reappear as Pelléas and Valmi Maroux will be the Golaud. Martha Gray as Genevieve, Bernice Fisher as Ysolt, Edward Lankow as Arkel and José Murdones as Le Medecins, will complete the cast. André Caplet will direct.

Another French opera, but this time an old favorite, "Carmen," will have its first hearing on Saturday night. Although as usual the prizes will be on the "Pelléas" side, the title role will be assumed by Mme. Elvira, the most famous Carmen of the day and a much more than competent center of artists will assist her. Fernando de Potter will be the Don Jose and José Mardones, the Escamillo, than whom there is no better Diamond Towner, whose debt as Mimi was one of the most pleasurable successes of the season, will also Micaela. The other parts will be taken by Mmes. McCaury and Shurlock and MMs. Sampier, Everett, Bourquin, Duvaux and Gibbons. Mr. Strong will conduct at this performance.

That on Monday evening, Mme. Petrazzini will sing in opera in Boston for the last time this season will be a matter of regret to the many who have in their throats the tones and marvelous vocal agility, the supreme joy of opera. "Traviata" will be the bill and as Violetta, Mme. Petrazzini again will entrance her hearers with delight as she did on Christmas night. In Giovanni Zambello as Alfredo, there will be a tenor of an eminence equal to that of the prima donna and Mr. Petrosi will sing the grateful music written for the angelical part of the father. The orchestra will be under Mr. Moranzoni.

The fourth subscription performance of "Lantise" will be sung on Friday night, with the cast of Saturday afternoon—that of the premiere, with the exception of a new Julien in the person of Mr. Zambello, instead of Mr. Clement. Mr. Caplet will direct the orchestra.

On Saturday afternoon, "La Bohème," which has been one of the season's most popular offerings, will be given what is likely to be its last presentation. The Mimi again will be Lucrécia Bari, who has charmed all beholders on the occasion of each of her three previous appearances in the part. The Rodolfo will be Leon Laflotte, the new French tenor whose portrayal proved interesting and satisfactory on first acquaintance, and Mme. Bergey will sing Musetta as she alone can. Rodolfo's three friends will be cared for by MMs. Petrosi, Puleini and Mardones, an announcement significant in itself. The director will be Mr. Moranzoni.

SOLDIERS' HOME.

What It Has Done Since It Opened 22 Years Ago.

The biennial report of the Soldiers' Home at Tilton shows that during the past twenty-two years the home has received and cared for 782 veteran soldiers and sailors who were dependent upon the charity and gratitude of the state for support.

Of this number 214 have died while members of the home, and 38 are now enrolled, August 31, 1912, as members.

Up to August 31, 1910, 724 men had been admitted as members, and during the year 1911 and 1912 which this report covers, 51 others have been received, making a total of 792. During these two years a considerable number have been discharged, generally at their own request, while some of these have been afterwards re-admitted.

The funds available for the support of the home for the two years amounted to $53,100. The disbursements totaled $48,174.12, leaving a balance of $4,925.88.

Police Commissioner Sperry H. Locke was a visitor in Concord on Wednesday.

NEVER HAD A LOOK IN

McCarthy's Cleverness Wins
From Palzer in the Eighteenth.

Los Angeles, Jan. 1.—Luther McCarthy of Springfield, Mo., shattered the heavyweight championship ambitions of Al Palzer, the Iowa giant, at the Vernon arena today. For nearly eighteen rounds he used the huge frame of the Iowa as a punching bag.

The middle of the eighteenth round found Palzer staggering blindly about under a volley of lefts to his battered face, and when Referee Charles Eylon walked between the men and hoisted the right hand of the smiling cowboy pugilist, the decision was received with cheers.

McCarthy's victory, following his decisive defeat three weeks ago of Jim Flynn, places him at the top of the list of white heavyweights.

McCarthy has announced and reiterated the statement today that he would never fight a negro.

Palzer, in spite of his superior height, weight and reach, was no match for the coal-headed, agile youngster. He literally stumbled through the fight, assimilating awful punishment and his rushes were wholly ineffective. He scarcely landed a clean blow throughout the fight.

Palzer began the fight with an aggressiveness that indicated a desire to finish his man in short order, but McCarthy and little difficulty in ending him. Once Palzer appeared to have an advantage, in one of the early rounds McCarthy slipped to the mat. Palzer rushed in, landing a right upper cut to catch the rising man, but McCarthy ducked out of danger.

McCarthy fought cleverly throughout, lulling his time and beating down his man systematically. He seldom wasted a blow and hit with deadly precision. Palzer had practically no defense against the Missouri's whiplike left, delivered straight from the shoulder, and seldom was able to block the right swing or upper cut which invariably followed a series of straight lefts.

McCarthy landed at will with an accuracy that became monotonous. Palzer's eyes were kept almost continually on his manager, the veteran Tom O'Rourke, who shouted instructions to him through a megaphone. He appeared to have no initiative whatever. O'Rourke's instructions were as audible to McCarthy as Palzer and every move of the Iowa was anticipated by his foe.

Palzer's face was badly disfigured and he showed the effects of his beating even more than did McCarthy's last victim—Flynn.

In the 18th round Palzer walked unsteadily to the center of the ring and literally fell into a left hook that dazed him. He clung to McCarthy's shoulders and when they separated McCarthy shot a left to the jaw. McCarthy apparently unwilling to administer the finishing punch backed away and the referee stopped the fight.

LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL, GLOSSY HAIR, NO DANDRUFF--25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Hair coming out?--If dry, brittle, thin or your scalp itches and is full of dandruff--Use "Danderine."

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first--you will really new hair--growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded and brittle, and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing--your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of fine hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself, tonight--now--that your hair is as pretty, and soft as any--that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment--that's all--you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

OBSERVED FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE PROCLAMATION

The anniversary of that great event in the lives of the colored people, the Emancipation Proclamation, was properly observed by the colored residents of this city at Freeman's hall on New Year's night, and there was a good audience present.

It was the fiftieth anniversary and for this reason the colored people decided to make the celebration a little more elaborate than usual, and they arranged an attractive and interesting program.

The members of the Storer Post, No. 1, G. A. R., Union Veteran Union, and the Women's Relief Corps were the special guests.

Rev. W. H. Harrod, Ph.D., was the principal speaker and Mayor D. W. Badger made a short address.

The following was the program: The Star Spangled Banner..... Willoughby Allen

ATHLETIC CLUB HOLD NEW YEAR'S CELEBRATION

The members of the Portsmouth Athletic Club and invited guests, had a splendid time at the club house on New Year's night. This holiday is one of the big dates on the P. A. C. calendar, which is going some, and the club house was crowded until a late hour.

The entertainment was furnished by Yarrick the magician, and he gave a great show. He is exceptionally good in cards and he had the crowd guessing. His mental telepathy is also another fine act. In fact he was a great success and his act was very well received.

The musical numbers were furnished by the P. A. C. quartette, H. S. Parker and John W. Mitchell tenors.

Horace Rowe and Ira Newell bass. They rendered several very fine selections, and during the evening the club chorus was there with the goods. Messrs. Rowe and Parker presided at the piano.

During the evening supper was served with the following excellent menu:

Chicken and Lobster Salad
 Oyster Patties
 Rolls Olives Celery
 Ice Cream Assorted Cake
 Crackers and Cheese
 Coffee Cigars

The entire affair was in charge of the hustling officers of the club, who left nothing undone to make it the great success that it was voted.

composed of Haywood B. Burton, chairman; William T. Patillo, secretary; George H. Strongin, treasurer; James P. Slaughter, Fitz Allen Williams, Mrs. Henry T. Adams, Mrs. Robert Allen.

LABOR MEN BEGIN PRISON TERMS

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 1.—The 23 labor union officials sentenced at Indianapolis for complicity in the McNamara dynamite plots arrived at the Federal Prison here at 7:15 o'clock today.

As Frank M. Ryan, president of the Iron Workers' International Union, Olaf A. Tveitmo, the Pacific coast labor leader, Herbert S. Hockin, John T. Butler and the others stepped from the special train which brought them from Indianapolis, they were taken in charge by the prison authorities.

Sentence Begins New Year. New Year's Day thus found the labor leaders beginning in the Federal Penitentiary here punishments for their connection with crimes for which the McNamara brothers confessed dynamiters, are serving terms in the state prison at San Quentin.

The prisoners were taken by rail directly into the prison grounds. Within an hour after arrival each prisoner had been subjected to the usual prison regulations.

On account of its being a holiday, the details of assigning the men to work was delayed until tomorrow. Most of the new prisoners are iron workers, and it is understood the warden will put them on the construction of buildings.

Tveitmo is the only one of the convicted men not affiliated with the Iron Workers' Union, and it is expected he will be given clerical work. Ryan may be given similar duty, because of his age and his apparently feeble condition.

It was a memorable trip which brought the prisoners over the 570 miles from Indianapolis on New Year's eve.

The train was guarded at windows and doors, all the curtains being drawn and no one being permitted to give out any word as to the happenings within.

Higgins Faints on the Trip.

The trip across Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and into Kansas was to have been kept secret, but at every station crowds greeted the train as the "dynamiters' special" and cheers and singing at midnight showed the disposition of the prisoners toward a new year which for them was to begin with imprisonment.

At midnight while passing Jefferson

City, Mo. Marshal Schmidt passed around coffee, which was drunk from the cups as they sat each facing an armed guard. Each prisoner was permitted at that time to write out New Year's messages to members of his family.

F. J. Higgins of Boston, ex-New England organizer for the Iron Workers' Union, became unconscious on the train, and was placed in a physician's care. He is sentenced to serve two years.

A Fine New Year Custom.

Over in China and Japan, the so-called barbarians have some customs that seem quite civilized. One of them is the habit of cleaning up debts as an expression of New Year's feeling.

The contrast reminds one of a remark once made by Li Hung Chang one day when he was attending a church service in this country. The minister read the Ten Commandments. Li leaned over to his neighbor and whispered, "Haven't you quit doing those things yet?"

Over in this country a raft of bills are sent out Jan. 1. A large proportion of them go to the wastebasket unopened. It is generally felt to be imprudent to disturb the serenity and optimism of a new era by anything as irritating as debts.

Few people stop to think of the waste involved. Every merchant has to make an allowance for his bad bills, and it all comes back to the debtors in the end. It produces business catastrophes, forced sales and is a continuous drag on the confidence and enterprise of the community. Business men do not feel inclined to make improvements and add new lines, as they would if the obligation of debts was keenly felt.

Tradesmen say that some of their worst slow-pay customers are people who have plenty of money. The sight of such persons floating lazily along in fat luxury, while their creditors are working nights and lying awake because they cannot collect the money that would pay their bills, is about as fine an example of hogishness as anything the American menagerie produces.

Few things fritter away the energy of business men like the work of collecting small bills. It calls for constant strain of energy and expense in lying up loose ends. In no department of business is that truer than in collecting newspaper subscriptions. People who allow such bills to run along do not realize how their reputation for efficiency and honor suffers.

Wherefore, remember the butcher, the grocer and the printer while you are saying your Happy New Years.—Mirror.

A Health Measure.

Walking, if properly and regularly followed, would become not only a restorer of health to many who at the present time are on the road to disease, but also a source of pleasure.

Let the arms swing if you feel like it, and the limbs, too; open the nostrils and fill the lungs, and the movements will send a gentle electric vibration through the entire body, the result of which is the awakening of a new life. Never take the lazy gait, as it soon makes one tired and produces languor. A little perspiration on the home-stretch may prove to be a blessing—not only in carrying off the matter from the body but in bringing an increased supply of oxygen into the blood and putting the blush of health on the cheek.

Perhaps the best time to walk is in the early morning. The air is then the most highly charged with the life-giving oxygen and the freest from dust and smoke which arise later in the day. At this time also the mind is liable to be free from worry and anxiety, hence in the best condition to drink in the blessings of freshness for us on every hand.—Lowell Sim.

Another High Cost Item.

One of the leading medical schools of the country has been obliged to increase tuition fees. Other schools have been forced to do the same thing in the last few years, following the course of the commercial interests, and the end is not yet. The cost of education depends on the general cost of living, so the advance is only natural. And practice, as well as education in medicine, means more outlay than formerly, so it would not be surprising if the physician, too, joined the movement toward higher prices. In one Massachusetts city doctors already have arranged a new scale of charges for visits and certain treatment. Probably the time is not far distant when other medical men will see the need of adopting the same plan. Unless the cause of the ever-swelling costs is found, and the remedy applied, the increase will spread in endless progression to cover every service and commodity.—Bruckton Times.

The New York Times claims that in Paris all drivers, whether they be owners, borrowers or chauffeurs, must be licensed after a test of their fitness to run their cars, and the penalties for speeding and reckless conduct are sure. This community has been aroused by several recent cases of wanton slaughter in the streets. It demands that the rule of reason and of caution shall prevail among motor car drivers, and that the means of punishing the reckless shall be made more certain.

The Philadelphia Press claims that the parcel post is one of those New Year reforms that we are going to keep.

President Elect and Mrs. Wilson at the Wilson Birthday Celebration In Staunton, Va.

Photos copyright, 1912, by American Press Association.

It was one of the biggest events in the history of the little town of Staunton, Va., when President Elect Wilson visited there to celebrate his fifty-sixth birthday at the house in which he was born. Mr. Wilson had suffered a severe cold several days before his departure and virtually left his bed to make the trip, but despite the slight indisposition and other reminding effects of the illness he was in good trim. He made one of the most vigorous speeches of his career thus far in the shadow of the little house of his birth. The town was decorated in festive attire, and the year was set aside as a holiday and homecoming period. The picture shows, from left to right, Mr. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. William H. Mann and Governor Mann of Virginia as they reviewed the parade in Mr. Wilson's honor. Some of the paraders are shown in the lower photograph.

Current Comment.

The New Congress.

Never mind about what Mr. Bryan is saying or may say about seniority in the Senate. Never mind about what this person or that is saying or may say about Mr. Clark for another term as speaker or Mr. Underwood for another term as House leader. Free speech and a free press are here, and will have, always with us. The new Congress is a tempting topic, and men and newspapers with opinions as to how it should be organized are within their rights in expressing them.

But it is safe to believe that both houses of the new Congress will be organized from within and not from without. A hint has been thrown out to Mr. Wilson to take a hand, but so far he has not responded, and it does not seem likely that he will. He will have his hands full with other matters.

Mr. Bryan shows a desire to take a hand, but is working at a disadvantage. The strength he possessed with democratic party followers, he does not possess with those of this time, and will not possess with those of the next. In the Senate he has never been strong. No democratic leader there since 1886 has been properly speaking a Bryan man. Mr. Gorman was anti-Bryan, and Mr. Martin is classed as one. And even senators who have supported Mr. Bryan with cordiality have never encouraged his disposition to instruct them in their course.

The Bryanite criticism of Mr. Martin and Mr. Simmons takes the form of an assertion that they are not in sympathy with the principles of the democracy now triumphant. But Mr. Martin has within a year been voted another term as senator, while Mr. Simmons only last month won at the polls on an appeal for an endorsement of his record in the Senate. So far, then, as the democrats of Virginia and North Carolina are concerned, Mr. Martin and Mr. Simmons are orthodox and up-to-date. To rebuke them in the organization of the new Senate would be to rebuke their constituents.

Seniority, of course, spells both experience and ability. Now and then a man without qualifications for legislative work finds his way to the Senate as the result of local party wrangling which has made an entirely fit man ineligible, but no such man ever "made it" in the Senate. The Senate is a severe test, and the men who stay term after term show such qualifications for their duties as entitle them to a good deal of consideration. In March Mr. Martin will enter on his fourth consecutive term, and Mr. Simmons on his third.—Washington Star.

1909-1913.

Four years ago this coming spring the republicans seemed to have matters securely in their hands. Twelve years of continuous power lay behind. Why not twelve years more of power? The opposition from repeated defeats was deeply discouraged—almost cowed. It had failed three times to win with a western candidate with western connections, and once with an eastern candidate with eastern connections. What other refuge had it? A southern man with southern connections was out of the question. The democrats looked flustered, and nobody attempted to forecast their next move.

Relief and hope came from an unexpected quarter. What they had been unable to do for themselves was now to be done for them. The republicans began their latest lease of power by falling out among themselves, and in less than six months were at one another's throats in the roughest and roughest style. Demoralization followed, and all the democrats had to do was to sit tight and watch the germination. This they did, and in time the enemy, divided and maddened, was delivered into their hands.

The tariff did it. A campaign promise of revision had to be met, and argument arose as to the precise meaning of the promise. Revision downward, yes. But how far downward? In that way the fiasco began.

Here is history worthy of the closest study by the democrats. They are coming into power well heeled in the way of numbers. While Mr. Wilson is a minority man, he yet received a large vote, and while the Senate is close, the House is overwhelmingly democratic. They have a great opportunity, and if it is improved they may hold office for a long time. The republicans are still divided and angry.

But here is the tariff again, and, as four years ago, and, indeed, as at all times, a source of anxiety. The democrats have been voted in on a promise of revision, but what form shall it take, and how far be carried? Is it to be based on the proposition that protection is unconstitutional and must go; that the Payne law is responsible for the high cost of living and that revision must produce lower prices for both foodstuffs and clothing?

Such is the contention of one faction of the democracy, and among the leaders of that faction are some men of fighting weight and quality. But Mr. Wilson is not of the number. He does not hold that protection is unconstitutional and does not expect mere revision to revolutionize prices of everyday commodities.

What will the harvest be? What can it be, with the reapers, as four years ago, wrangling among themselves about the crop and the possibilities?—Washington Star.

DRESSES OF GLASS

It had remained for the 20th century to show the advantages of garments made of minerals. Incredible as it may seem, stone, iron and even glass are now being manufactured into clothes. The latest novelties in women's dresses. Is represented by robes of spun glass. The cloth comes in shades of white, green, blue, pink and yellow. The inventor is an Australian and the goods are as bright and flexible as silk.

The first lady to wear a glass dress was of royal rank, which insures the popularity of the material. It was of a delicate shade of lavender shot with pink, and its peculiar sheen reminded observers of the sparkle of diamond dust.

The Russians are manufacturing a fabric from the fibre of a filamentous stone from the Siberian mines which is said to be of so durable a nature that it is practically indestructible. The material is soft to the touch and pliable in the extreme, and when soiled has only to be placed in a fire to be made absolutely clean.

Truly cloth is largely used today by tailors everywhere for the purpose of making the collars of coats set properly. This cloth is manufactured from steel wool and has the appearance of having been woven from sheep's wool.

Wool, not the product of sheep is being utilized abroad for men's clothing. This is known as "Minotex" wool, and is made in an electric furnace. Powdered limestone, mixed with certain chemicals, is thrown into the furnace and after passing through a furious air blast it is tossed out as fluffy white wool. When it comes from the furnace the wool is dyed and made into lengths, like cloth. A pair of trousers or a coat made of this material cannot, it is claimed, be burned or damaged by grease and it is flexible as cloth made of sheep's wool.

RAILROAD NOTES

Later reports have it that the new turntable on the Boston and Maine will not be issued until January 12.

Seven new rounder crews from Ayer to Deerling Junction have been put on the W. N. & P. division this week owing to the increased amount of business.

About a year ago much of the business on this division was transferred to the Portland division as it was claimed that that double track and the absence of so many grades would enable the trains to carry more tonnage.

When this business was transferred many men were laid off and some lost their positions. All the men however have been returned to the W. N. & P. division.

The Concord shops of the Boston & Maine road is building five combination cars into freight cabooses for service on the southern and Connecticut river divisions.

On account of heavy business the freight claim department of the New Haven and Boston & Maine road, has added 20 clerks to the force located at the North station.

On the New Haven trains between New York and Boston today all steel Pullman, parlor and sleeping cars are running for the first time in accordance with the terms of the new twenty year contract which the railroad has made with the Pullman Co.

TEXANS HUNT QUAIL IN CADILLAC CAR

Find This An Ideal Way To Enjoy Sport in the Field

Quail hunting by motor car is the latest novelty for sportsmen, and judging from the enthusiastic reports from Texas, this method of getting a full bag, not only adds much to the comfort and pleasure of the sport, but also to its practical value.

Recently Roy Munger, of Dallas, Texas, accompanied by friends made a hunting trip to West Texas, using his Cadillac touring car not only to get to the hunting grounds, but actually employing the car in the field.

Mr. Munger and his party made the trip in the car overland to Big Springs and drove thence about 60 miles north.

"Automobile hunting is the greatest sport in the world," Mr. Munger said on his return to Dallas. "We shot from the car nearly all the time, and the Cadillac took me nearly any place that I wanted to go. In fact some of the places we pulled through would have been impossible for a horse and buggy."

The Munger party bagged as much game as the law allows. Blue quail were killed in large numbers and the duck hunting near Gail, Texas, where the night was spent, was declared all that a hunter could wish for.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

What Is Needed

Mr. Editor:—

The annual gossip is going the rounds about what it is to be and what isn't to be done with the fire department, this year. There are some things the firemen would like to see done: First, some head taken of the Chief Engineers recommendations, a new central station, some new hose, which is badly needed; a new and up-to-date ladder truck and needed repairs on the apparatus.

PARCELS POST.

Local Postoffice Handles One Hundred Parcels on a Holiday.

The parcels post certainly started in good at the local postoffice and on a holiday at that.

The first day over one hundred parcels were handled by the force under Postmaster Corner.

Today that amount will be doubled. Among the parcels sent out on Wednesday was one for Seattle, which shows how the public are favored by the new undertaking of the government. The package weighed nine pounds and cost the sender just eighty-four cents. To send the same package by express it would cost $1.44.

Reports received in Washington from postoffices, large and small, throughout the country indicated that the newest of government services was being ushered into its usefulness with a heavy day and that the facilities pro-

NEW YEAR GREETING.

Mr. Vail Announces by Wire Inauguration of Plan for Pensions.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company is sending to all its employees today a booklet informing them how to proceed to secure the benefits of the new plan for pensions, sickness, and disability payments, and life insurance. The plan took effect yesterday and was inaugurated by the following greeting by wire from President Vail, the head of the Bell system.

Mr. Vail's New Year Greeting

Announces by wire the inauguration of plan for pensions, disability, payments, and insurance.

To the employees of the Western Union Telegraph Co., Western Electric Co., and the Bell Telephone System:—

The new plan of benefits for disability, due to accidents or sickness, of insurance and of pensions, goes into effect with the new year.

Nearly 200,000 men and women who are now giving their best years to the Telephone and Telegraph Co. of the country, will henceforth be assured of assistance in the exigencies of life, for which all are not able to provide, and will be assured of a provision for their declining years.

It is but natural that every employee should desire to assume the normal responsibilities of life to himself and those dependent upon him with the things that make life complete and enjoyable. Unforeseen hardships may make these responsibilities heavy burdens, and these must be met in all times of misfortune, must in the beginning be small and accumulated slowly. A realization that obligation, misfortune as well as in all times of misfortune as well as in times of prosperity has made the need of something besides an old age pension appear absolutely vital.

FEEL BULLY? TAKE CASCARETS TONIGHT

A 10 Cent Box Keeps Your Liver, Stomach and Bowels Clean For Months

Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste, and foul breath—always trace them to clogged liver, delayed fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When the poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congested and that dull, throbbing sickening headache.

Salts, cathartic pills, oil and purgative waters force a passage way for a day or two—yes—but they don't take the poisons out and have no effect upon the liver and stomach.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the bowels, remove the sour, undigested fermenting food and gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the accumulated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight, will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10 cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels clean and regular for months.

vided for handling the new business would be taxed to capacity as the public knowledge of it became more general.

From all points come reports of "break" shipments in the new post. They consisted of everything from pitchforks and pines to paving blocks and poultry. Under the regulations practically every class of merchandise is available by parcels post. All mail matter formerly fourth class now goes in the new service.

Boston reported the shipment of a ham into New Hampshire.

It became evident to postal officials early in the day that some difficulties, more or less serious, were likely to be encountered in the helpful stage of the new system. From every city came reports that many packages bore ordinary postage stamps instead of the distinctive parcels post stamps. Under the law such parcels have to be held for lack of proper postage.

Notwithstanding that it was a holiday, the amount of parcels post matter offered at offices throughout the country, so far as heard from, fairly measured up to the Christmas rush on the ordinary business days.

Indications are that the volume of traffic will be tremendous. How this matter is to be transported by the railroads is a serious question. Within a few days it has become apparent that the railroads generally had not sufficient equipment ready to handle a vastly increased weight of mail.

Generally no delay in the delivery of parcels by the postoffice is expected. Extraordinary measures have been taken to provide delivery service. It clearly seems certain that the new system will be utilized extensively by department stores and merchants generally for the delivery of local packages.

Why not try a side-van on your motorcycle for quick delivery purposes, and sell them. Will carry 200 pounds. 14 250 11, 4

BULL MOOSE HOLDING UP ORGANIZATION OF LEGISLATURE

Deadlock Over Election of Speaker --Five Ballots Without a Choice-- Democrats Expect to Elect Felker Governor.

Concord, Jan. 1, 1913. After five ballots in which there was no choice, the New Hampshire legislature went over at eleven o'clock today when they will meet again and try and perfect the organization. So far the long talked of combination of the progressives and the democrats has failed to materialize and it is in the wind that the democrats will choose their candidate for speaker and place in nomination Stevens, the congressman-elect from the first district who it is thought will get the progressive vote and the election.

There was no break in the ranks of either party after they once got balloting and the prediction that the democrats would go over to Britton the progressive candidate was not pulled off, for this reason it is said that the democrats could not control enough of their followers to stand for such a bare face trade.

The first ballot stood as follows: Whole number of votes cast, 402; necessary for choice, 202; Cutter, democrat, had 191; Perkins, republican, had 184; Britton, progressive, had 27 and there was no choice. The legislature then adjourned until 2:30 and during the recess there was effort to arrange for the election of Britton by the combined progressive and democratic vote, but it failed to work and the first ballot after lunch showed but a slight change.

Four more ballots were taken with no change of any vote. The fifth ballot was as follows:

Whole number of votes cast, 387; necessary for choice, 194. Cutter, democrat, had 183; Perkins, republican, had 184; Britton, progressive, had 20 and there was no choice.

A motion to adjourn till eleven o'clock Thursday was then carried, yes 267; no 189, and the legislature adjourned at 6:05.

The understanding here this evening is that the democrats will hold a caucus in the morning and will select Stevens with the idea that he will get the progressive vote.

Representative Aherne of Concord moved to amend by striking out that part of Representative Ewell's motion referring to distinguishing marks on the ballots. This brought Representative Ewell to his feet, who made a spread eagle speech, saying that he stood for a honest ballot without a tag. Representative Aherne replied, saying that Representative Ewell was begging the question. He sincerely hoped that every Democrat would mark his ballot before he cast it for Samuel D. Felker.

Congressman-elect Stevens, who is also a member of the House, took the floor. He said that the people of New Hampshire had a right to know how their representatives voted on the governorship. In his opinion, it was entirely different from voting at the globe election day. Ewell of Exeter appealed to the Republicans to vote for it.

Mr. Mearns of Newmarket wanted to know how long it had been that the Republican leaders had confidence enough in their members to trust them to vote secretly. This caused a great laugh on the Republican side of the House.

The yeas and nays were called for on the question, and the roll call was ordered, resulting as follows: Yes, 204; no, 187, and Representative Aherne's motion prevailed.

Balloting for Speaker began at 12:55 p. m.

On every side the election of Felker the democratic candidate for governor is taken for granted and it is also understood that the progressives will vote for an democrat. Elected members of the council and the four members of the senate. This in person seems to have been based on a reported trade between the democrats and progressives, but the feeling was not quite as keen after the legislature adjourned without being able to agree upon a candidate for speaker. The Republicans have lost their strength to a man, and there does not seem to be any indication of a break.

Governor Bass and his cabinet who ordinarily would be private citizens tonight are still holding their official position as the law requires that they hold office until their successors have been elected and qualified.

The inaugural exercises were scheduled for today, but there seems to be a doubt as to whether the governor will be elected in time.

will get the progressive vote.

The galleries, anterooms and corridors of the state house swarmed with politicians from every nook and corner of the state, anxious to ascertain at first hand every detail of the convening of the Legislature. At 11:30 Harrie M. Young, for a number of years clerk of the House, rapped for order, and began calling the roll of the 405 members. He showed that two were absent, Oscar Barron of Carroll and Cyrus O. Nuttall of Derry, who died since election.

Meanwhile the Senate got together and agreed that no attempt would be made to organize the Senate permanently today, but that Senator John Stinson of Exeter would preside temporarily.

The roll was finished at 12, and then it was voted to notify the Governor that the House was waiting to be sworn in. The Senate also notified the Governor to the same effect. The Governor responded immediately and administered the oath to the members, first to the Senate and then to the House.

Republicans Lose in First Clash

On motion of Representative Chase of Concord, seconded by Representative Haines of Walboro, Edwin C. Bean of Concord, a Republican, was unanimously chosen temporary presiding officer. As soon as Representative Bean had taken the chair Representative Ewell of Exeter moved that the House proceed to elect a speaker and that no ballot be counted that bears any distinguishing marks. Representative Aherne of Concord moved to amend by striking out that part of Representative Ewell's motion referring to distinguishing marks on the ballots. This brought Representative Ewell to his feet, who made a spread eagle speech, saying that he stood for a honest ballot without a tag. Representative Aherne replied, saying that Representative Ewell was begging the question. He sincerely hoped that every Democrat would mark his ballot before he cast it for Samuel D. Felker.

PARCEL POST MEETS WITH GREAT SUCCESS FIRST DAY

Washington, Jan. 1.—Americans today were using for the first time a new institution—the parcel post. Reports to headquarters from post offices, large and small, throughout the country indicated that the new post of Government service was being met with a hearty and useful response. The new service was being met with a hearty and useful response. The new service was being met with a hearty and useful response.

From all points come reports of "frank" shipments in the new post. They consisted of everything from toothbrushes and brushes to paying books and poultry. ## BUSINESS PRINCIPALS AND NOT POLITICS

Washington, Jan. 1.—Much pleased over his visit to the Panama Canal and the conditions he found existing here, President Taft returned to the White House yesterday and immediately plunged into the mass of business and correspondence which had accumulated during his absence and needed his personal attention. The President was accompanied to Washington by Mrs. Taft and Colonel and Mrs. George W. Goethals. For several hours after reaching the Executive offices the President went over business matters. He received few callers during the day and late in the afternoon he found time to play golf. President Taft was absent from Washington twelve days, three of which were spent in a careful examination of the progress being made in the construction of the Panama Canal.

Operation of the Panama Canal on business principles without regard to politics, will be insisted upon by Colonel George W. Goethals, chief engineer of the Canal, undertakes the organization of the permanent government of the zone and the operation of the great waterway.

When Colonel Goethals arrived in Washington yesterday with President Taft on his annual trip from the Canal Zone, one of the first matters brought to his attention was the widely published report that his nomination as governor of the zone would be opposed because of a belief in some quarters that he would show favoritism in appointing his subordinates. The colonel made it plain that he would be entirely content to forego such an appointment if he was not to be permitted to select the best men for the work to be done, regardless of political considerations, as has been the rule since he became head of the Canal Commission. He declared that his one rule in making appointments would be to find the right man for the work to be done.

Colonel Goethals said he contemplated no changes in the present Canal force except such as would be incident to the completion of the various sections of the work. Already the engineer officer in charge of the Pacific division has been relieved as that division is practically completed. Probably by next June all the divisions will lose their separate entities and be merged in the general commands. The principal purpose of Colonel Goethals' visit to Washington at this time, about a month in advance of his usual appearance at the capital, is to appear before the house committee on Appropriation to discuss the fortification of the Canal Zone.

ARRESTED IN CONCORD

Ray Waldron Brought Back Here by Deputy Marshal Ducker.

The police received a complaint early Wednesday that Ray Waldron had left his mother's home and it is alleged that he took with him a suit of clothes and some money that did not belong to him. The police traced him to Greenland where he purchased a ticket for Concord. The police of Manchester and Concord were notified by Marshal Hurley and later Waldron was arrested in Concord. Deputy Marshal Ducker went up on the noon train and through Waldron home on the evening train.

TAXICAB DRIVERS STRIKE IN LONDON

London, Jan. 1.—An almost complete tie-up of taxicab service in London was effected today, when the drivers carried out the strike they voted last night. It was estimated that 8000 taxicabs stood idle in their garages during the day, the only taxis running being the few owned by individual drivers.

All of the taxicab companies, from the largest to the smallest, were affected, although they declared they had the names of many strike-breakers who would relieve the situation soon.

The trouble is largely due to the inability of the companies, as they claim, to make the taxicab business profitable. When the vehicles first appeared the larger companies reaped a great harvest of profits, but lately few of the companies have been able to pay dividends.

On the other hand, the drivers claim that they are unable to make a living under the agreement that they furnish their own petrol (gasoline). They declared they would not pay an advance in the price of petrol from 8 to 12 pence (about 25 cents) to the drivers.

ONE DOSE RELIEVES A COLD—NO QUININE

Pape's Cold Compound Cures Colds and Grippe in Few Hours

You can surely end grippe and break up the most severe cold either in head, back, chest, stomach, or limbs by taking a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken. It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, anxious catarrhal discharges, running of the nose, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges. Take this wonderful compound as directed, without interference with your usual duties, and with knowledge that there is nothing else in the world which will cure your cold or end gripe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after effects, as a 25 cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist can supply—accept no substitute—contains no quinine—belongs in every home. Tastes nice.

LOWER CABLE RATES

CULLEN IS BADLY BURNEDRemarkable Presence of Mind of Head Operator Miss Noonan of Exeter Telephone ExchangeJohn J. Cullen, son of Mr. and Mrs.
William A. Cullen of Gates street, employed by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., as a tele-man at the company's exchange in Exeter, was seriously burned while at work in the last room this morning.Just how the accident happened no one seems to know, and the first known that there was any trouble was when Cullen shouted "I'm all afire" to Miss Nora E. Noonan, chief operator of the exchange. Miss Noonan with rare presence of mind procured a blanket and wrapped it around Mr. Cullen, to smother his clothing which was one mass of flames, and William Vilas, the messenger boy at the exchange assisted by dashing a pail of water over theunfortunate young man's head. The fire was extinguished and young Cullen was got out of the test room by Miss Noonan and messenger Vilas.He was frightfully burned all over his body. The clothing being burned to a crisp. In the meantime the young lady operators who had remained at the switchboard throughout the trying ordeal had summoned medical assistance, and on their arrival Cullen was at once ordered to the Exeter Cottage Hospital.While his burns are of a serious character, this noon it was stated that he would probably recover.Word was sent to his home in this city, and his father and brother Gerard, immediately left for Exeter.Mr. Cullen has many friends in this city who earnestly hope for his speedy recovery.

NAVY YARD NEWS

Back at Work.

E. H. Baker, official stenographer of the court martial board, returned to his duties today after a furlough of two weeks.

Injured by a Fall.

George S. Robinson, a resident of Exeter employed in the copper shop, fell from a bench in building 15 this forenoon and was quite badly injured about the head. After treatment at the yard dispensary he was removed to his home by the yard ambulance.

Nothing to It.

A rumor about the yard that the U. S. S. New Hampshire would come here for repairs appears to have no foundation. The vessel had one of the propeller shafts on the night of Dec.
26 in Mont Passage on her way from Santo Domingo, and has been ordered to her home yard at Norfolk for repairs.

New Shop for Coopers.

The cooper and dock shop, formerly after be located in building 16, has been occupied by the outside shipbuilders.

Moved to Boiler Shop.

The machinery and employees of the machining cooper shop were today transferred to studies in the yard boiler shop.

Removal of Building 18.

The laborers of the department of public works began today the first work in tearing down building 18, the former machine shop of the steam engineering department. All work for the present will be done on the interior.

Boys Playing Marbles On New Year's Day.The residents of McDonough street were treated to a sight on Wednesday which none of them can recollect of ever, witnessing before on a New Year's day. It was a crowd of boys engaged in playing marbles in the mid on the sunny side of the street.
A police officer on the beat coming quick on the scene concluded that he had a bunch of crack shooters but walked away with a large smile when he got near enough to see that the boys were simply shooting the balls of porcelain and baked clay into the ring. Though this is one of the signs of spring, the kids were two months ahead of the game.
